Analyst Notes

TCS — quality compounder under pressure: TCS is the gold standard of Indian IT — superior margins (27% OPM), best-in-class ROE (52%), massive FCF (■48K Cr), and the backing of Tata Group. Its $30B revenue milestone and $1.5B GenAI pipeline signal long-term relevance. However, near-term growth (5% TTM revenue) is trailing peers, the stock is down ~22% in 1 year, and FII conviction has been eroding. Best suited for long-term investors who value quality and stability over near-term growth.

Infosys — better value, better momentum right now: Infosys has recaptured growth momentum (10% TTM revenue, 14% TTM profit), trades cheaper on both P/E (16.2x) and P/B (5.3x), and offers a superior dividend yield (3.56%). Project Maximus is delivering margin improvement, and large deal TCV ($3.8B with 55% net new in Q1 FY26) points to strong revenue visibility. The low promoter holding (14.4%) is a governance watch point. Suited for value-growth investors seeking near-term alpha.
